발표요약문
Presentation Abstract

Perseverance

제인 오 미국 항공우주국(NASA) 제트추진연구소 수석연구위원 Jane Oh Senior Systems Engineer, NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory

No one knows how we'll live after we're born. You are the most precious. Stand tall, lift your head, and proudly give yourself some credit. When it's tough, ask someone nearby for help.
I believe that everyone is equal and has their own hidden talents and confidence. If I say I was lucky, my American friends tell me that both luck and effort are needed.
I hope that young people in Korea can move forward with confidence, and that older people in Korea will kindly and thoughtfully guide them.
I think anything that comes my way is luck, and if I work gratefully, good opportunities seem to come. Instead of struggling to find a big company from the start, it seems better to gain experience step by step in a smaller place. I think it's a blessing to work with good people rather than what kind of work the job is.

※ 연사의 발표자료 비공개 요청에 따라 발표요약문으로 대체합니다. At the speaker's request, the presentation materials have been replaced with an abstract.